MEMORIAL DAY AT FOREST LAWN

As is customary, Memorial Day was fittingly observed at Forest Lawn Park, with the G. A. R. in charge of the services, which in point of interest surpassed all previous ceremonies. After the usual routine, but solemn and impressive ritualistic G. A. R. services, five thousand people bowed their heads as the plaintive notes of Taps were trumpeted by a G. A. R. veteran as a last tribute to Americans who have fallen in the present war.

In their honor a large mound of green leaves and boughs sprinkled with white blossoms was decorated with solemn ceremony. Louis Sentous, Jr., the French Consul; Charles Winsel, Belgian Consul and Giovanni Piuma, Italys Consul, represented their respective nations and placed wreaths with appropriate words. Marshall Stimson, head of the Four-Minute Men, spoke for the State by appointment of Governor Stephens. Councilman O. P. Conaway represented Los Angeles.

Mrs. Harry Burtman Witter posed in costume as Hope upon a pedestal beside the symbolic grave, with the great stand of colors of the Allied nations behind her.

Orra Monette, president of the Sons of the American Revolution, vigorously outlined the duty of those who stay at home during this war while the soldiers are giving their lives in Europe, and urged the most complete self-sacrifice and energy. The Rev. B. C. Corey spoke on the high ideals of the United States in entering the world war to fight for true democracy and a civilization.

Temple Choir sent 150 voices to lead the throng in singing national airs. Each of the 5000 graves at Forest Lawn was decorated by 150 Boy Scouts. Veterans of the Civil and Spanish war attended.

Special mention should be made of the tenor solo, by our townsman, F. Booth, whose clear, sweet tones, unsupported by any instrument, charmed and thrilled his hearers.

One of the most impressive ceremonies was the dedication of a symbolic grave for the Americans who fall in the present war. It was dedicated by representatives of the Allies.

LEILA MAUD DEVINE PASSES AWAY

Leila Maud Devine, of 3464 North San Fernando boulevard, passed away Sunday morning at the Methodist Hospital in Los Angeles, after an illness of ten days. She was thirty-six years of age, and was born in Los Angeles, on November 29, 1881, and has lived in this community ever since she was a small child, and was much beloved and respected by a large number of friends who will greatly miss her. At the age of seventeen years, she entered the Parmalee & Dohrmann Company, of Los Angeles, as general office girl, and has been employed by them ever since. She made a successful and capable business woman, and at the time of her death was holding the position of General Auditor for this company.

Liela Maud Devine was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Devine, of 3464 North San Fernando boulevard, and she leaves two sisters, Florence and Mabel Devine, and a brother, Robert E. Devine. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock, at 1239 South Hope street, Los Angeles. Interment was made in the Rosedale Cemetery, Los Angeles.

THE NEW REGISTRATION

Chairman Lanterman of the Exemption Board states that he has been asked to give wide publicity to the announcement that registration for the second army draft will take place June 5th, and that the penalty for failure to register is one year's imprisonment.

He states that there will be few loopholes of escape for slackers, as government officials who have the matter in charge will have recourse to school registrations, postoffice information and other official statistics which will be carefully checked up in connection with registration returns.

HIT BY BALL

In the almost professional baseball game held this week between the Faculty of the High School and the Senior Class, Mr. Harry L. Howe, of the Faculty, was unfortunate in being hit by the ball, and in consequence has been carrying a beautiful black eye around with him since the game.

Dwight Stephenson, of the Officers' Training School at Camp Kearny, is expected to be up to make a short visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Stephenson of Central avenue.

WHO SHALL BEAR THE BURDEN?

Going without wheat is an inconvenience—nothing worse—for homes in comfortable circumstances.

It is no hardship—no danger. Physiologists all agree that wholesome diet need not include wheat. The South fought the Civil War three years on corn. Early New England did without wheat five years at a time with no ill effects.

Going without wheat is perhaps more expense, certainly more work. Not a hardship but a burden. Who shall bear the burden?

Shall we ask the women of France to do it? Do you know what it means to them?

The women of France are doing their own work, doing the nation's work, even doing the work of teams in the field.

The men are gone—all but the younger boys, the aged and the invalids. In almost every home is a cripple or one dying of tuberculosis—an added care.

French homes have not baked bread for hundreds of years. They have not even ovens nor baking tins in their kitchens. They rely on the bakery.

If you ask them to bake their own bread—for the bakery cannot supply quick breads—the women of France must add another hour to their long day of toil.

Will you ask them to do that? Or shall our homes carry the extra burden of doing without wheat?

WHEN, HOW AND WHERE BOYS OF 21 MUST REGISTER

Who must register—All male persons (citizens or aliens) born between June 6, 1896, and June 5, 1897, inclusive, except officers and enlisted men of the regular army, navy and marine corps and the national guard and naval militia while in federal service and officers in officers' reserve corps and enlisted men in enlisted reserve corps while in active service.

When—On Wednesday, June 5,

1918, between 7 a. m. and 9 p. m.

Where—At office of local board having jurisdiction, where the persons to be registered permanently reside, or other place designated by local board. (Local board for this district is located at 1010 West Broadway.)

How—Go in person on June 5, to your registration place. If you expect to be absent from home on June 5, go at once to the office of the local board wherever you happen to be. Have your registration card filled out and certified. Mail it to the local board having jurisdiction where you permanently reside. Enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope with your registration card for the return of your registration certificate. You must mail your registration card in time to reach your home local board on June 5. If you are sick on June 5, and unable to present yourself in person, send some competent friend. The clerk may deputize him to prepare your card.

Information—If you are in doubt as to what to do or where to register, consult your local board.

Penalty for not registering—Failure to register is a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment for one year. It may result in loss of valuable rights and privileges and immediate induction into military service.

A ship, built in California, will sail for Europe shortly carrying the wheat flour saved by the people of this state. She will be loaded with California's excess supply.

The Food Administration wishes to impress upon everyone the vital necessity for saving every ounce of wheat flour. Every bit thus saved will be sent directly to the allies. Furthermore the Food Administration has arranged to handle flour now in the hands of individuals who may wish to contribute it to democracy's cause.

Every individual who wishes to turn flour into the Food Administration may do so by getting in touch with the local food administrator who will tell them what to do. No flour will be accepted unless it is in the original package and has not been opened. The reason for this is the great danger of loss in handling loose flour. All flour thus turned in will be paid for at a fair price.

Each household now has a chance to directly contribute to the hungry people of Europe.

JUDGE McCORMICK SPEAKS IN GLENDALE

The Red Cross meeting and reception at the Elks' Club House last Saturday evening, when reports of the drive were presented, was a success from every standpoint. It was given in the banquet room of the club house and every seat was filled. It began with a fine musical program furnished by the twenty-piece orchestra of the High School led by Mrs. Dora Gibson.

Bert P. Woodard, Exalted Ruler of the Lodge, presided and in his speech of welcome to Red Cross workers dwelt on how fitting it was for his organization to act as host on such an occasion, because the first and fundamental requirement of the Elk is respect for the flag of his country and obedience to its laws.

Mr. Woodard then introduced Vice-Chairman A. L. Lawshe, manager of the Red Cross drive in Glendale, who gave interesting facts and statistics relative to the campaign. Glendale's quota, he said, was $6000, but up to Saturday evening $12,000 had been subscribed, of which over $7000 was cash. This statement was greeted with tremendous applause.

The chairmen of the various committees were called upon and responded briefly, thanking committee members for their splendid team work and the people in general for their liberal response to the Red Cross appeal. The workers testified that in most instances checks were awaiting them when they made their calls.

Paul J. McCormick, Judge of the Superior Court of Los Angeles County, made the leading address of the evening and in his introduction referred to having served as judge at the oratorical contest in which Glendale's representative (Clarence Ralston) won the championship of Southern California and said he felt as though the people would really be better entertained by that young man's fine and very patriotic address than by any speech he could make.

The judge dwelt upon the greatness of this hour in the destiny of nations. "There have been other days when Liberty hung in the balance," said he. "It was a great day when the American Colonies gained freedom, a great day when freedom was given to the slaves, a great day when the people of Cuba won freedom, but this is the great and crucial day not only for America but for all the world.

Mattison B. Jones, the next speaker, supported his plea for the Red Cross by an array of facts and figures that could not fail to arrest attention.

Following the speeches, Roy Kent auctioned off a collection of squabs which had been donated to the Red Cross and realized therefrom $18 for the cause. A stretcher had been placed at the entrance to the Club House to receive Red Cross contributions and announcement was made that $22.00 had been gathered up from that receptacle. Before the evening closed the offering was considerably increased. A brief intermission gave guests a chance to move around and greet each other and to sample the excellent punch served by pretty girls in Red Cross nurse costume, and then the closing number of the program was given, a Red Cross picture play in five reels entitled, "Dolly Does Her Bit," which featured little Marie Osborne, the child film favorite, which was produced by the Diando Company of Glendale. It was greatly enjoyed, and gave a pleasing variety to the evening's entertainment.

P. E. O. MEETING

Chapter A. H., of the P. E. O., held an all-day meeting last Friday at the home of Mrs. Grace Hobbs, 600 North Central avenue. A luncheon was served at 12:30, and the program for the afternoon included a report of the State Convention of the P. E. O., by Mrs. Greta Lynch, who was a delegate of Chapter A. H. Others who attended the Convention and made brief reports were Mesdames Kate Stephenson, Abby Barker, Viva Davenport and Edith Smith. The afternoon was spent in sewing for the Belgians and the home needy. It was decided to hold meetings every Friday at the home of Mrs. Abby Barker, on Glendale avenue, for the purpose of doing war work.

Those who assisted the hostess in receiving were Mesdames Mary Goodwin and Katherine Ripley, and Miss Dorothy Hobbs.

The next meeting of the Chapter will be an afternoon meeting at the home of Mrs. Greta Lynch, and will be held Friday, June 14th.

AT THE PALACE GRAND

To-night, Saturday, June 1, Glendale people will have the opportunity of seeing Jack Pickford, who has recently been seen in such successful pictures as "Tom Sawyer" and "Huck and Tom." This time the offering is "His Majesty, Bunker Bean," an extremely humorous story of how a boy, influenced by fortune tellers, comes to believe that he is the reincarnation of an Egyptian prince. He is a real American boy, and as soon as this idea gives him the needed incentive, things begin to happen. It is well worth seeing. There will also be a Harold Lloyd (Luke) comedy and a cartoon comedy of Mutt and Jeff, drawn by their creator, Bud Fisher. Also there will be another showing of Bruce's wonderful outdoor scenes. There will be the usual matinee, at 2:30, and two evening shows, at 6:45 and 8:45.

The Sunday feature will be a big smashing success in seven parts, "Carmen of the Klondyke." Clara Williams appears as Carmen, and is supported by a great cast of players. Matinee at 2:30 and evening shows at 6:45 and 8:45.

Monday's program presents a unique attraction in the story of Rasputin, the Black Monk of Russia, who for so long a time, by means of a strange power, held the government of that great nation in his hands, doing as he pleased with its superstitious rulers, and inaugurating such a period of immorality as the world has seldom seen. Seven stars are featured, Montague Love, June Elridge, Arthur Ashley, Henry Hull, Julia Dean, Irving Cummings, Herbert Wilke and others. Also Burton Holmes travels will be shown. Matinee at 2:30, evening shows at 7:00 and 8:45.

Tuesday, June 4, a great outdoor picture is offered, with popular Dorothy Dalton in "Tyrant Fear." It is the story of a beautiful woman who overcomes the weakness of her heritage. If your tongue were stilled by the tyranny of fear while you saw your self-respect go crumbling in the dust, what would you do? A Christie Comedy will also be shown. Matinee at 2:30, evening shows at 7:00 and 8:45.

Wednesday presents a Brady-made production, starring Ethel Clayton. The play is "Whims of Society," and is the story of two working girls—sisters—and of their battle against poverty, suffering and temptation. How true love and character triumphs over temptation. Also the world's latest current events. Matinee at 2:30. Two evening shows, 7:00 and 8:45.

Mabel Normand will be seen Thursday, June 6, dashing and full of pep, in her latest comedy drama, "Joan of Plattsburg." It's a very interesting picture. Also Burton Holmes travels. Matinee at 2:30. Evening shows at 7:00 and 8:45.

HOMINY

Three Suggestions

1. Hominy may be used instead wherever a recipe says macaroni, spaghetti or vermicelli.
2. Use hominy in making muffins and quick breads.
3. Use hominy as a vegetable for dinner and serve no bread.

SCALLOPED HOMINY AND CHEESE

Arrange alternate layers of boiled coarse hominy and grated cheese. Pour over all a cup of white sauce, made with corn starch, and bake for 30 minutes. Cooked fish or meat may be used instead of the cheese.

Yes, they are holding the line, but folks back home must bring up the reserves.

CITIZENS MEET TO CONSIDER CHANGE OF NAME FROM TROPICO TO GLENDALE

The question of changing the name of the Southern Pacific Railway station from Tropico to Glendale was discussed at an informal meeting of a few of the citizens of the community Monday afternoon at the City Hall. G. J. Blech, division freight agent for the S. P. Railway, upon invitation of City Manager T. W. Watson, was present to hear the arguments presented for and against changing the name of the station. Mr. Blech explained that if the name of the station is changed to Glendale, then this point will be known to all railroad officials and to shippers as Glendale station proper, and unless a special request is made by business men residing in the neighborhood of Brand and Broadway and other sections of the Glendale community, freight shipments will be made to what is now the Tropico station and not to the Pacific Electric station at Brand and Broadway.

Mr. Blech announced that he would report the sentiment of the citizens present to the railroad officials, and Manager Watson stated that he would report to the City Trustees the opinion expressed by those present at the informal meeting, and after giving due publicity to the contemplated change of name, if there is no well-founded objection, the change will be made, providing the Railroad Company will agree to it.

Mr. James A. Spence, of 317 Oak Drive, who attended the Grand Lodge of Knights of Pythias at San Francisco all of last week, returned home on Saturday. Mr. Spence was the delegate of Helmet Lodge of Los Angeles, of which he is a Past Chancellor Commander.

Mr. Spence was glad to return to a decent climate again, he stated, for all of the time he was at San Francisco it was so cold that overcoats and sweaters were the most popular form of clothing.

In the Red Cross Drive which ended Monday, the local Red Cross branch made a very substantial showing. The quota of this district was $850.00, and the amount taken in was $2,643.00. Of this amount $651.55 was subscribed in Los Angeles, and whether or not this district will be given credit for it is not known. This leaves a balance of $1,991.45, the amount taken in by the local committee. In the Tropico district is included the Chandler and Atwater tracts.

Mrs. Hartley B. Shaw, who was the chairman of the local Red Cross Drive committee, reports that the campaign was conducted in a very harmonious way, and that the committee worked with great interest and enthusiasm.

Mrs. Shaw was assisted in the drive by the following:

Dr. A. M. Duncan, Mrs. Roy W. Horning, Mrs. Merritt W. Ludden, Mrs. Edwin Virden, Miss Ida Myers, Mrs. Etta M. Jenison, Mrs. E. V. Bacon, Mrs. Edward Moniot, Mrs. Walter Sullivan, Mrs. Mary J. ### WHICH CAMP?

America today is divided into two camps — Americans and Alien Enemy.

Those who are not for America are against her—enemies all.

Those who are idle, selfish or even indifferent are Aliens—alien to American interest.

Only the workers, "comrades in this great enterprise," bear the honored name—Americans.

NEW GLENDALE CHARTER

By Walt Le Noir Church

A movement is on foot to organize an unincorporated association, without fees or dues, composed of two representatives to be appointed by each local association interested in civic betterment. Name: "The New Glendale Charter Association"

The object is to select candidates for the Board of Freeholders required by the proposed New Charter, and to nominate candidates for election if the New Charter is adopted.

It will be the further purpose of said Glendale New Charter Association to campaign for the adoption of that New Charter—if it be acceptable.

Such an association was suggested by Mr. Hartley Shaw, one of the City Trustees, as an available means of having the proposed New Glendale Charter duly considered by as many citizens as may be, with a view to getting their hearty support if they approve of said Charter.

The writer has been requested to aid in the organization of the Glendale Charter Association, which has a meritorious mission.

is told in detail by one who participated—a Prussian officer whose conscience revolted at the atrocities, causing him to desert.

The author—a young German—was an engineer with Von Kluck's army when it crossed the Belgian frontier on the mad rush to reach Paris. He participated in the entire campaign until the battle of Mons, in which he was wounded and sent to a hospital from which he escaped over the Dutch frontier, finally reaching America. He is in the United States now, registered as an alien enemy, and has written his experiences for our readers.

According to Budget

By Jane Osborn

(Copyright, 1917, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

When Morton Blake, who had been married a year and was supremely happy in his snug little apartment with his blue-eyed little wife, seated himself in his favorite easy chair with a volume of his favorite author and his favorite pipe, preparatory to enjoying for the evening all the happiness of bachelor life rolled into one with the contentment of married life, there was blue-eyed Peggy on the other side of the table with a flat, oblong book that had a new look to it. Peggy opened it with care and pressed the covers back as one does with a book that has never been opened before.

It was the budget book.

"Angelica has been here today," Peggy announced, "and she brought this—it's such a wonderful idea! Morton, did you ever hear of a budget? I never had, but Angelica explained what it means and here is the book. She has made a special study of housekeeping, you know."

"But what does Angelica know about making men happy in their homes?" queried Morton, who had not an altogether pleasant mental image of Peggy's tall, angular, many-degreed cousin, who seemed to be so fond of putting ideas into Peggy's head as Peggy was of sponging them up. "What does she know about real home making?"

"Oh, she knows a great deal," insisted Peggy. "And she says that the reason why so many people aren't happy is because the wives aren't business-like and don't apply the same methods to housekeeping that men do to their businesses. Angelica would make some man wonderfully happy."

"Did she tell you that, too?" asked Morton, puffing on his pipe viciously.

"Yes, only, of course, she is so busy telling other women how to make their homes happy that she doesn't have time. Well, she brought me this budget book and I am to put down in these little columns just what I spend each day—see, here's a place for bread and one for butter and another for meat and fish, and all the things we eat, and here's one for ice and one for help and carfare and light and things like that—Angelica says you call those last ones operating expenses. It is the first of the month, so I started right in. See, I bought some face powder at the drug store and I put that down under medicine, and the two dollars for the laundress—that goes under help. Every time you give me anything that goes in here under receipts. And every week I am to balance it both ways so I can tell at a glance just how much I am spending for every different sort of thing—and in the front of the book there is a table telling how much we ought to spend for things and if I'm spending too much for any one thing then we'll know it and can stop making that mistake. Angelica says she will help me balance and figure out the percentages—I never could do percentages."

"You don't mean that Angelica is going to keep tabs on our household expenses?" gasped Morton.

"Oh, you mustn't mind that. She helps lots of young married girls—she says she is helping them to make their husbands happy and contented. That is her life work. She started doing it only for the poor people in the settlement, but she has discovered that people comfortably off need help just as much. And so I started right away, but I can't finish till you tell me your part of it. Here's a place for 'man's lunch' and another for 'carfares,' that you must tell me, and every day you must tell me how much you have spent for magazines or papers—that goes under 'Improvements,' and if you give something to a beggar you must tell me so I can put it down under 'Church and Charity.'"

"Every night I will ask you so you won't forget anything. Angelica has been helping one young couple and they haven't been a cent out of the way since they began. The husband remembers every tiny winty thing he spends and he is so happy just on account of it."

Morton snorted inwardly and had some rather sinister thoughts regarding Angelica and her missionary enterprise. "Is there a definite percentage for the amount of tobacco a husband can use?"

"Yes, indeed—but the book says that one of the things the young people ought to strive to do is to divert that money—those are the words the book uses—into other more worth-while channels, such as lecture courses, the purchase of an encyclopedia or a beautiful work of art. Don't you think Angelica is doing a wonderful work?"

"Yes, quite wonderful, not to say remarkable, phenomenal and epoch-making," said Morton, and Peggy was satisfied.

Every night for a month thereafter Morton was obliged to confess just how much he spent on luncheon, shoe-shines, beggars and tobacco, and even had to admit that he lost a dollar on a bet one day and gained two dollars the next, though Peggy hadn't any idea where to enter these items and finally decided on putting the dollar down under "mortgage interest" because she hadn't anything else for that column, and calling the other simply "cash received."

Angelica had promised to help Peggy with the percentages and correct their budget at the end of the following month, and Morton was casting about in his mind for a way of defeating her in her purpose. One night early in the second month of their budget accounts he told his wife he had met an interesting old school friend of his who had a delightful mission in life. He was trying to help the men he knew to make their wives happy and he had worked out a system which as yet he had not had published. It was, said Morton, the theory of this man that the most worth-while thing in life was not money. Money was incidental. One's happiness did not depend on the amount of money one had so why take pains to conserve it? The things that counted were the words one spoke, the smiles and tears and sighs and laughter. It was as folk use these real things of life that they were either happy or unhappy. For instance, if a man laughs only when his wife hits her thumb with a hammer or when he sees a cat with a tin can on the end of its tail, he is pretty sure to make himself and his associates unhappy.

The woman who spends two hours every morning gossiping with a neighbor about another neighbor's divorce case is wasting her time and cheating her husband because a woman's words belong as much to her husband as a man's savings belong to his wife.

Peggy listened intently to the explanation, and seemed enthralled. So far, was she from suspecting Morton's scheme that she even suggested that Angelica would like to meet the stranger, and went off into a very pleasant brown study as she thought that possibly a match might be made between these two workers for humanity's happiness—and so there might, had the second philanthropist been a person of flesh and blood and not a creature of Morton's imagination. Morton gave his wife some typewritten sheets containing items and a system of horizontal and perpendicular she was in the wrong because the sorrow in that case was prompted by jealousy or personal pique.

Peggy had a hard time with the item marked "laughter" for it was Peggy's nature to laugh a little quite frequently and everytime she stopped to think that she was laughing and that she must remember to put it down in the list she was sobered so she stopped laughing. And it was hard sometimes to have to put down on that sheet for Morton's eyes that she had said "darn it" because the potatoes boiled dry; still there was an item for "profanity" and Morton had decided that "darn it" was as near to profanity as Peggy ever came.

One night—it was the night before Angelica's expected visit and Morton had been unusually severe with Peggy over the sheets, as indeed Peggy had been with Morton because he couldn't remember how much he tipped that day at luncheon—Peggy crumpled down over the sheets in tears. "We're not half so happy as we used to be—before we began to budget everything," she wailed. "I wish Angelio had never left the settlement and I wish your sour-hearted old friend—I know he is sour hearted—was—was in the bottom of the ocean. And I just hate to keep accounts, I do, and I don't want you to tell me how much you spend."

Morton took a warm little hand from under the tear stained face and then raised the face and kissed away the tears.

"Shake, Peggy," he said. "We don't need any one's prescription for happiness, do we? And we are through with budgets for keeps."

"Forever," echoed Peggy, and she meant it.

lar lines not unlike Angelica's budget book and he asked her to fill in the items from day to day. He would not let her forget, he said, but would go over the sheets every evening after he had finished telling her just how much he had spent.

One of the items of Morton's scheme was labeled "tears" and under this poor Peggy felt in duty bound—for Morton had accounted for his lunch money to a penny—to explain the cause for every tear she shed. The tears she spent over the frost-bitten geranium plant were in a measure excusable, for death even of a plant is a suitable cause of sorrow, but when she wept over the fact that she was not invited to a certain luncheon party

The Navy needs these "eyes" to derive the submarine of its sting and it has requested the California State Council of Defense to help it obtain them. Commissioning hundreds of new ships for naval service has created a demand for observation glasses far in excess of the present American output. The only way to insure an adequate supply while the manufacturers of lenses are speeding up production is by appealing to the patriotism of private owners.

The Government pays a nominal fee of $1.00 for each glass accepted and the donor is further rewarded by knowing that his patriotic contribution may be the means of saving thousands of troops in transport and also of saving much-needed shipping from destruction.

Old, scuffed telescopes or field glasses may possess first class lenses, so don't be chary about forwarding them regardless of appearance.
